

9 Ways to Keep Tabs on Troubled Teens

One well-used specialty of Spy-Moms.com, two Moms Private Eyes, is taming out-of-control teens. Like them, you can find out exactly what is going on and where it is happening with the combination of these techno gadgets and Mom or Pop's intuition.

(PRWEB) November 1, 2005 -- One well-used specialty of Spy-Moms.com, two Moms Private Eyes, is taming out-of-control teens. Like them, you can find out exactly what is going on and where it is happening with the combination of these techno gadgets and Mom or Pop's intuition. We know that these methods can be distasteful and may seem over to top to some parents but desperate situations sometimes require extreme methods to secure the safety of our children.

1. An Auto Trackers with GPS can be placed in or on your teen's car to discover where it goes, how fast it goes, where and how long it stops, all tied up in a nice little chart and map. Less expensive models have to be removed from the car and the data downloaded to a computer program but more expensive ones can be viewed in real time.
2. A more advanced step is to give your teen a Cell Phone Tracker with GPS that will show where your teen's cell phone is at all times, monitored on your computer in real time.
3. Why not apply Ultraviolet Detection Powder that can only be seen by ultraviolet light and will remain on fingers and hands for several days? Items can also be marked with this powder to help identify them.
4. A more in-your-face approach is to use Visible Detection Powder that turns hands purple when applied to Mom's wallet, Dad's car keys, or the "secret escape route" out of the house at night.
5. Spy cameras that are half the size of a dime can be set up at home so you can supervise from your computer at work.
6. How about easy-to-use Home Drug Test Kits that can be purchased at most drug stores? Urine or hair can be tested and are usually backed up by mail-in drug testing if necessary. These are especially effective if the parent charges the teen for the cost of any negative results.
7. Let's move in the big guns, Truth Testing technology using either an expensive 3 hour private polygraph test or the new Voice Stress Analysis done in a short phone call, with or without the teen's knowledge. Many times a confession results before the test begins. Again, this is more effective if the parent charges the teen for the cost of any negative results.
8. A product called CheckMate, a home testing kit that identifies semen in clothing, furniture, cars or wherever. We know this one is nasty and that there are other reasons for testing positive but it can be useful.
9. A phone recorder that will record both sides of the line and all extensions can reveal a lot to parents.

On the low tech side, sometimes a tape recorder placed in the teen's room is just as good as when your little brother hid one under your bed.

Contact information:

Mollie Carman and Valerie Agosta

Hanady Investigations

208-867-8004

Spy-Moms.com

info@HanadyInvestigations.com

###

Contact Information

Valerie Agosta
HANADY INVESTIGATIONS
<http://www.spy-moms.com>
208-867-8004

Disclaimer: If you have any questions regarding information in these press releases please contact the company listed in the press release.
Please do not contact PRWeb®. We will be unable to assist you with your inquiry.
PRWeb® disclaims any content contained in these releases. Our complete disclaimer appears here.

© Copyright 1997-2008, Vocus PRW Holdings, LLC.
Vocus, PRWeb and Publicity Wire are trademarks or registered trademarks of Vocus, Inc. or Vocus PRW Holdings, LLC.

Terms of Service | Privacy Policy